The authors report the cases of 10 patients who suffered from meningiomas of the pterygoid process. Diagnosis was made by computed tomography and magnetic resonance imaging. The tumors were surgically treated. Histological diagnosis was made at the time of surgery in all cases. Histopathological examination of the tumors was made at the Nuremberg Institute of Pathology. The authors point out the need to use radiological examinations and especially the role of computed tomography in recognizing the tumors. In recent years, with rapidly increasing use of portable electronic devices such as personal computers, portable telephones, etc., there has been increasing demand for secondary batteries with high energy density, such as nickel metal hydride secondary batteries. In particular, nickel metal hydride secondary batteries having a high capacity/small weight and a high energy density are expected to be used as power sources of next generation portable

FIFA 09 (English) "court had no evidence before it that "any of these employees were actually discharged, or were even threatened with dismissal"); Principal Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Cohen, 385 F.2d 341, 344 (10th Cir.1967) (although employer had announced "policy of discharging" one manager, "the policy was merely an intention and not an act of discharge"). 38 Furthermore, a review of the record persuades us that, whatever the exact status of these employees, the record does not indicate that Purcell had taken any concrete steps to discharge them. We, therefore, affirm the district court's summary judgment. III. ATTORNEY'S FEES 39 The district court's award of attorney's fees to Purcell based on its holding that the Clayton Act does not provide a private right of action on behalf of Purcell's employees is erroneous. This award was based, in part, on the court's belief that the plaintiff had not prevailed in its action because it failed to prove damages. The district court's finding that the employees of Purcell did not suffer compensable damages appears correct. However, the trial judge properly rejected Purcell's claim that, as a matter of law, an employer cannot be held liable for an unfair labor practice committed by its employees during the course of their employment. 40 The principles governing an employer's liability under § 8(a) have been developed with reference to the NLRA. 3da54e8ca3
