Use DocuWalk for creating a single PDF or Postscript file with all of your technical documentation. DocuWalk can generate an all-in-one PDF or Postscript file from multiple HTML files that you create using the supplied templates. You can import and export HTML files using web browsers such as Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, or Google Chrome. DocuWalk Features: • Create a single PDF/Postscript file for all of your documentation • Import and export HTML files • Create numbered or footer-only PDF/Postscript files • Allow printing of selected pages • Generate a customizable CSS • Generate PDF from text-only HTML DocuWalk uses a centralized or per-page style sheet. A central style sheet allows you to make changes to a style that appears on all pages in a single HTML file. If you want to change the page numbering on every page, you need to create a style sheet for each page. Using per-page style sheets can reduce page changes that you need to make. When you create a style sheet for each page, you can easily change the page numbering style. DocuWalk Template: There are two template options that you can use. The first template option generates a single PDF file that you can use as a book on your computers desktop. This template creates a single PDF file. However, this template doesn't include a numbered page system or a customizable CSS. To change the default page number style, you need to create a style sheet for each page. A per-page style sheet is recommended when you want to change the page numbering style, including the page numbering style and page numbering at the bottom of each page. There are three design options. • Single Document Template: You can use this template to create a single PDF file that can be used as a book. • Multi-Document Template: You can use this template to generate multiple PDF files that can be used as books. • Footer-Only Template: This template generates a PDF file that includes the page number style at the bottom of each page and a customized CSS. To change the page numbering style, you need to create a style sheet for each page. If you don't want to create a style sheet for each page, use this template. Note: For both template options, the generated PDF files look as follows: • DocuWalk Page Numbering Style • Document Page Number • DocuWalk Page Numbering Style at Bottom of Page
